

This year marks the 100th anniversary of the Armistice that ended World War 1. The global war had an immense effect on Europe, both for its destruction and death, but also for its impact on future politics and events from Asia to Europe. But for many Americans, it was a forgotten war; its consequences much more muted when compared to the Civil War or the Second World War. In South Carolina, the impact was very direct from the millions of Federal dollars spent on building military facilities to the thousand of young men sent overseas where they were exposed to ideas and cultural norms different from their own.

Join us as we explore some of these topics and learn more about the impact this global conflict had on a small southern state.

Early construction at Camp Jackson, July 1917.
 Courtesy of the Basic Combat Training Museum, Fort Jackson, SC.

Tour Option:

The Fort Jackson Basic Combat Training Museum is located on the largest US Army training facility in the country. The fort is named in honor of President Andrew Jackson, a native of SC. The Museum’s mission is to collect, preserve, exhibit, interpret, and account for historically significant property related to the training of the individual soldier and the history of Fort Jackson from 1917 to the present. Military equipment from past wars is displayed outside the museum.

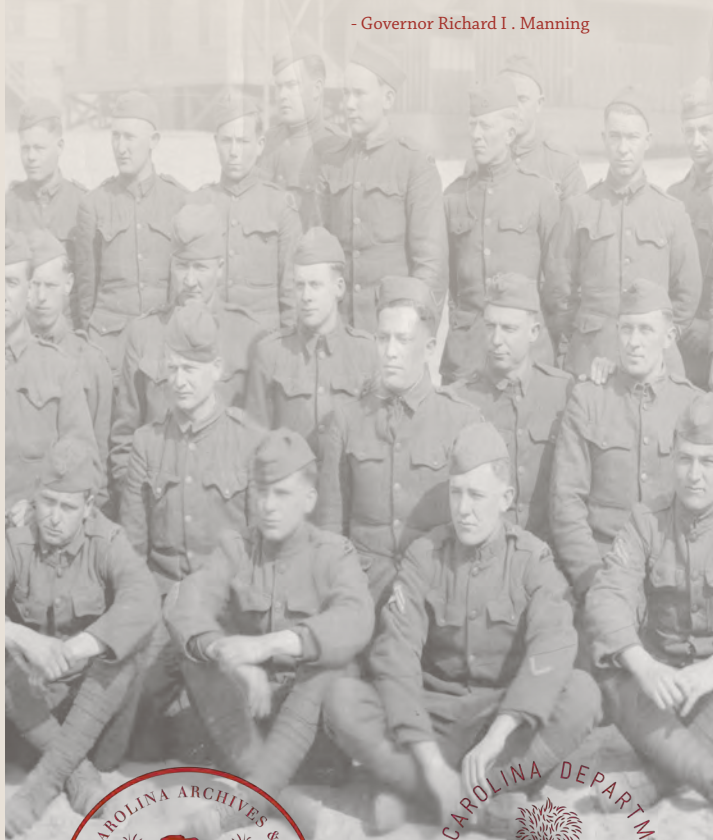

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 2018

WORLD WAR I SYMPOSIUM

SOUTH CAROLINA AND THE FIRST WORLD WAR

“The call for service has come. South Carolina is expected to do her part.”

- Governor Richard I. Manning

WORLD WAR I SYMPOSIUM

South Carolina Archives and History Foundation
 8301 Parklane Rd
 Columbia, SC 29923

PRESORT
 STANDARD
 US POSTAGE
PAID
 PERMIT 535
 COLUMBIA SC

REGISTER ONLINE

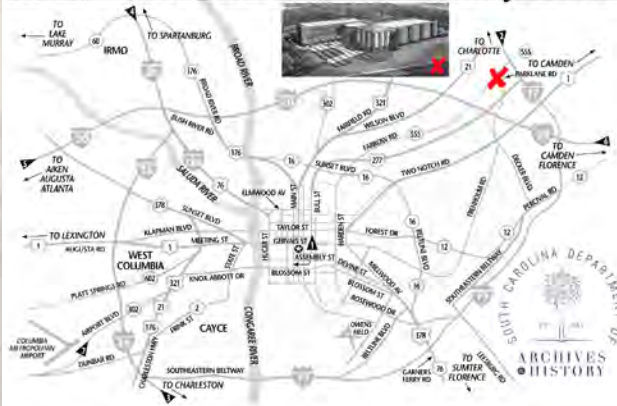

<https://wp.me/p7K0y7-3Y>

10,000 workers had the camp ready for troops by September 5, 1917. Courtesy of the Basic Combat Training Museum, Fort Jackson, SC.

LOCATION

The South Carolina Archives & History Center

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

Saturday, November 10, 2018
SC Department of History & Archives
Auditorium

8:30 AM: Registration

9:00 AM: Obedience, Courage, Loyalty: The 81st Division in the Great War - H. Allen Skinner, Command Historian, 81st Readiness Division, (USAR)

10:00 AM: The Birth of Camp Jackson. Victory Started Here! - Henry Howe, Director/Curator US Army BCT Museum

11:00 AM: Break

11:15 AM: The First World War and the American South, Dr. Ryan Floyd, Associate Professor of History at Lander University

12:15 PM: Lunch

1:15 PM: Depart for Fort Jackson Basic Combat Training Museum. Participants must provide their own transportation to the Museum. Directions will be provided.

1:30 PM: Tour Fort Jackson Basic Combat Training Museum.

2:30 PM: Participants depart from Fort Jackson

REGISTRATION FORM

REGISTRATIONS MUST BE RECEIVED BY NOVEMBER 7 TO PARTICIPATE IN FORT JACKSON TOUR

Name: _____

Address: _____

City, State, Zip _____

Phone: _____

Email: _____

Yes, I will go on the Optional Fort Jackson Museum Tour

Fort Jackson Entry Security requires: DOB _____
Drivers License State & # _____

I would like to receive the SC Department of Archives and History e-newsletter

Standard Lunch Vegetarian Lunch

$40 Conference Registration

Payment methods:

Check # _____, $ _____
Payable to: SC Archives and History Foundation

Credit Card: (Visa, Master Card, American Express, or Discover)

Card # _____

Expiration _____ Security Code _____

THANKS TO OUR SPONSOR

 THE UNIVERSITY OF
SOUTH CAROLINA PRESS

For Questions, contact Donna Foster at
(803) 896-0339 or dfoster@scdah.sc.gov

Mail to:
World War 1 Symposium – SCAH Foundation
8301 Parklane Road
Columbia, SC 29223